

Amy MacDonald

Amy MacDonald serves as Dean of Sponsored Programs at Wake Technical Community College in Raleigh, NC and is responsible for providing leadership for the college in its grant and contract development, administration, and compliance activities. Amy has worked for more than 15 years writing and administering sponsored projects, working in support of education, health, housing, and environmental causes. She has a passion for student success initiatives, continuous improvement, and strategic budgeting. Amy holds a Master of Science degree in Environmental Policy & Behavior from the University of Michigan.